

Cookie policy

Your clear consent is required to install cookies in the browser unless the cookies are:

- Needed to facilitate the browsing and/or the use of security measures to guarantee the confidentiality, integrity and availability of the information.
- Essential to provide the service that you have specifically asked for.

With regard to the other cookies that we use in our website, if you do give your consent by accepting the resulting legal notice that informs you about our cookies policy, we will be able to use them for the purposes stated herein.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small text file that is downloaded and stored in the users' terminal (Pc/smartphone/Tablet/etc.) when they visit a website. There are different types of cookies and they can be used for very different reasons. For example, the cookies might be used to recall the language chosen, personalize the website, recall your login, recall elements of an order, use security elements, share content on social media, recall the user's browser to improve efficiency, geolocation, analyse visits and behaviour in the website, supply personalized publicity, as well as monitor your movements in the website and compile user profiles.

What type of cookies are there?

In general there are two types of cookies: the session cookies and the permanent cookies. The session cookies are temporary, which means that once you leave the website, the cookies session is automatically deleted. Permanent cookies are stored in your device and they are activated whenever you visit the specific page that created them. A permanent cookie stays in the subfile of the browser for as long as the file exists. The cookies can be the website's own cookies or those of third parties. We create our own cookies and we control them in terms of using and deleting them. The third party cookies are created by entities that provide us with services, such as analysing the traffic in our website, displaying third party videos or connecting up to social networking sites etc. We would like to inform you that we do not have control over these cookies or the privacy policies of their creators. A table is shown hereinafter that contains and describes the cookies used in our website. If you have any questions about these cookies you should get in touch with the manufacturer following the stated links (this is regardless of your right to disable the cookies if you think this is appropriate)

Who can have access to the cookies?

Only the entity or the company that has created the cookies can access them

What information can a cookie obtain?

Very different types of information can be obtained by a cookie, by way of example; the cookies can obtain data about:

- The IP of the user.
- Website of origin.
- Term used in the search engines to access the website.
- Places of the website visited.
- Products selected.
- Content of the registration or order forms.
- Session ID.
- Information about the user's internet explorer and device, operating system, connection speed and display settings.
